ÚŘEDNÍ ZÁZNAM

Dne 16.4. 2024 v čase 11:15 hlídka Astra 30 ve složení str. 2173 Kraxner Tomáš a str. 1724 Havlovic Jan, byla vyslána na Staroměstské náměstí v blízkosti ulice Pařížská č.o.1 na Praze I, kde měl muž v červeném oblečení a deštníkem nabízet služby pro turisty. Hlídka přistoupila k muži, který zrovna komunikoval s turisty. Muž turistům nabízel službu vyhlídkových jíst po Praze způsobem, kdy v tiskovině jim prstem ukazoval na reklamu na společnosti, která se zabývá provozováním vyhlídkových jízd autobusy. Toto jednání bylo zadokumentováno prostřednictvím AXIS osobní kamery strážníka sl.č.2173.

Doslovné znění reklamy v tiskovině, kterou turistům muž ukazoval:

Hop.On Hop.Off 24 hrs.

s textem: 24 hrs hop-on hop-off bus tour, Stops near all the major sights, Audio guide in 16 languages, 2 routes, Hot line: +420 774 143 416

Dále turistům rukou ukázal na místo (Staroměstské náměstí naproti č.o.3) , za dopravní značkou B28 s dodatkovou tabulkou – MIMO BUS JEN NÁSTUP A VÝSTUP MAX 2 min., ze kterého se vypravují vyhlídkové jízdy.

Tímto jednáním došlo k nabízení služby na místě kde je to zakázáno Nařízením č. 21/2021 Sb. hl. města Prahy, kterým se vydává tržní řád, ve znění nařízení hlavního města Prahy č. 8/2023.

Dle §12 odst.2, písm.b) zák. 553/1991 Sb. byl muž vyzván k prokázání totožnosti, kdy předložil PKP č. [REDAKCE] na jméno:

Pan [REDAKCE] byl vyzván aby tiskovinu z které nabízel službu prostřednictvím reklamy vydal dle §17 odst.1 a 3) zák. 553/1991. což učinil a bylo mu vystaveno potvrzení o vydání věci (Č. j.:MPPH 43262/2025/OŘ 1). Dále pan [REDAKCE] prokázal smluvní vztah se zaměstnavatelem (Helpmi z.s., IČ:07942028) dohodou o provedení práce viz, fotodokumentace Tím že pan [REDAKCE] porušil z porušení nařízení č. 21/2021 Sb. hl. města Prahy, kterým se vydává tržní řád, ve znění nařízení hlavního města Prahy č. 8/2023 Sb. je důvodně podezřelý ze spáchání přestupku dle §4 odst.1 zák. 251/2016 Sb., a hlídka celou věc dle § 10 odst. 2 a 3) zák. 553/1991 Sb. oznamuje příslušnému správnímu orgánu, který je ve věci oprávněn rozhodnout. Protiprávní jednání zaznamenáno na AXIS sl.č.2173 a MKS 101 144 v čase 11:02 hod. -11:15 hod.

known here by the Devil after losing a bet with a priest.

Practical Tips:

- Best time to visit: Early spring when the gardens are blooming, and the crowds are light.

- Admission: The grounds are free, but tickets are required for the basilica and some exhibitions (approx. 120 CZK).

- Getting there: Take Metro C to Vyšehrad station and enjoy a short walk through the park to the fortress.

2. The Astronomical Clock (Pražský orloj): A Mechanical Marvel with a Dark Story
Why Visit: Located on the Old Town Hall Tower, the Astronomical Clock is one of Prague's most famous attractions.

First installed in 1410, it's the oldest working astronomical clock in the world. But beneath its beauty lies a chilling legend. The Legend of Master Hanuš: Local tales claim that the clock's creator, Master Hanuš, was blinded by city leaders to ensure he could never recreate his masterpiece elsewhere. In revenge, Hanuš is said to have sabotaged the clock, cursing it for decades. Today, its hourly display draws crowds from around the globe.

Highlights:

- The Hourly Show: Every hour between 9 AM and 9 PM, the clock comes to life with mechanical figures, including the Twelve Apostles, a skeleton (Death), and other symbolic figures.

- The Astronomical Dial: A masterpiece of medieval engineering, showing the time, date, zodiac signs, and the position of the sun and moon.

- Climb the Tower: Don't miss the climb up to the Old Town Hall Tower for stunning panoramic views of Old Town Square.

Practical Tips:

- Best time to visit: Early morning or late evening for fewer crowds.

- Tower admission: 250 CZK for adults. The climb is worth it for spring views of Prague's skyline.

- Tip: Visit the nearby Old St. Nicholas's Chapel for an up-close look at the Apostles' figures.

Charles Bridge: A Walk Through Myths and History

...age but also a place rich in legends and architectural splendor. Built in 1357 under the reign of Charles IV, it connects Old Town with the Lesser Town (Malá Strana).
Legend of the Foundation Stone: Construction began on July 9, 1357, at 5:31 AM—a date chosen by astrologers for its palindromic significance (135797531). The bridge's foundation is said to contain eggs mixed into the mortar, believed to strengthen its structure.

Spring is the perfect time to explore Prague's historic landmarks, where every stone and statue tells a story. From the myths of Vyšehrad to the mechanical wonder of the Astronomical Clock and the timeless beauty of Charles Bridge, these sites offer much more than meets the eye. Pack your walking shoes, bring a camera, and immerse yourself in Prague's rich history and enchanting legends. Your journey through time begins here!

Highlights:

- St. John of Nepomuk's Statue: The most famous statue on the bridge, honoring St. John of Nepomuk, who was thrown into the Vltava for refusing to betray the queen's confession secrets. Touch the plaque beneath the statue for good luck.

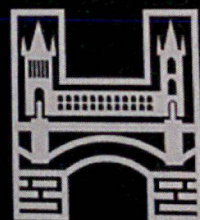

- Views at Sunrise or Sunset: Experience the bridge's magic early in the morning when it's quiet, or at sunset when the city glows.

- Street Artists and Musicians: The bridge often hosts painters, performers, and musicians, creating a lively yet timeless atmosphere.

Practical Tips:

- Best time to visit: Early morning in March or April for a peaceful experience.

- Tip: Combine your walk with a visit to Kampa Island below the bridge—a charming riverside area perfect for spring strolls.

International Workers' Day
 celebration of love, May International Workers' Day,
 a public holiday in Czech. Under the communist rule (1948-1989), the holiday was politicized, marked by parades, speeches, and displays of labor achievements.
 The political connotations have faded, but May 1st still remains a public holiday in the Czech Republic, giving people an opportunity to enjoy the day and celebrate in their own ways.

Czechs Celebrate Today
 Czechs celebrate 1. Máj as a mix of old and new traditions:
Romantic Outings: Couples visit parks, cherry orchards, or scenic spots like Petřín Hill for walks and quiet moments together.
Flowers to Karel Hynek Mácha:
 Flowers are often laid at Mácha's statue, especially in Prague.
Family Gatherings and Picnics: Families and friends enjoy the spring weather with picnics, barbecues, and time outdoors.
Cultural Events: Cities and towns may host concerts, open-air performances, and festivals
 celebrating the season of love and renewal.

Conclusion
 For Czechs, 1. Máj is more than just another public holiday. It's a beautiful celebration of love, nature, and the poetic spirit of spring. Whether you're kissing under a blossoming cherry tree, walking through Prague's gardens, or honoring the legacy of Karel Hynek Mácha, May 1st is a day to slow down, appreciate beauty, and celebrate the timeless themes of life and love.
 So if you're in the Czech Republic this spring, don't miss the chance to experience this charming tradition. Find a cherry tree, admire the blossoms, and as Czechs say: "Láska kvete v máji" (Love blooms in May).

01/2025 SPRING

Editors Note – Spring 2025

Dear Readers,

As Prague awakens from its winter slumber, the city bursts into life with the colors and energy of spring. From blooming parks and lively outdoor markets to cultural festivals and café terraces, March, April, and May are the perfect months to explore the golden city on the Vltava River.

Spring in Prague offers something for everyone. In March, the final remnants of winter give way to celebrations like the traditional Burning of Morana, a ritual bidding farewell to the cold and welcoming spring's warmth. April invites you to enjoy Prague's iconic parks and gardens, such as Petřín Hill and the blossoming cherry trees in Stromovka Park, while May brings romance to the city, especially on May 1st, celebrated as the "Day of Love" at Vyšehrad and under the statue of poet

Karel Hynek Mácha.

Spring also means Prague's cultural calendar is in full bloom. Enjoy classical music at the Prague Spring Festival, visit world-class exhibitions in galleries, or explore local traditions at the Easter Markets in Old Town Square, where you can taste seasonal treats and shop for handmade crafts.

This issue of Prague Panorama brings you handpicked tips on the best events, hidden corners of the city to explore, and culinary recommendations to enjoy Prague's vibrant food scene. Whether you're strolling along the Vltava River, taking a day trip on Hop On Hop Off bus, or savoring a cup of coffee on a sunny terrace, we hope you'll experience the charm of Prague in its springtime splendor.

Enjoy the season of renewal and discovery!

Traditional Czech Holidays and Celebrations in Spring: March, April, May

Spring in the Czech Republic is a season of renewal, joy, and rich traditions. As nature awakens and days grow longer, Czechs celebrate both religious and folk holidays that have been passed down through generations. From vibrant Easter festivities to romantic May Day customs, here's an overview of the most important Czech holidays and celebrations during March, April, and May.

1. Burning of Morana (Vynášení Morany)

When: Late March (around the spring equinox)

What It Is: A pagan-rooted tradition marking the end of winter and welcoming spring.

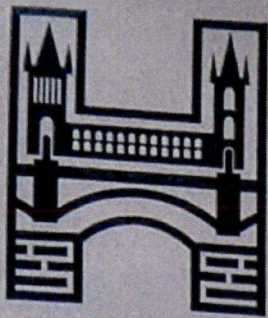

How It's Celebrated: Children and locals create an effigy of Morana, the goddess of winter and death, made of straw and old clothes. The effigy is paraded through the village or town and ceremoniously burned or thrown into a river to symbolize the departure of winter.

Where to See It: This tradition is particularly popular in smaller towns and villages, such as Rožtoky u Prahy or in regions like Moravia.

Tip: If you're in Prague, some open-air museums like Lidová Vesnice host re-enactments of this ancient celebration with folk songs and storytelling.

2. Easter (Velikonoce)

When: Celebrated in late March or early April (March 29–April 1 in 2025).
